SINN FEINERS' WRECK TRAIN3 KILLED,
MANY HURT
WHEN MINE EXPLODES

(By Associated Press)
BELFAST, Ireland, June 24.—A troop train conveying soldiers from Belfast to Dublin was wrecked at Odervoyle by an explosion of a Sinn Fein land mine. Two soldiers and one train guard were killed and many others were wounded.

Large forces of police and soldiers were dispatched to the spot, which is in a lonely mountainous district just beyond the Ulster border.

Two special trains with soldiers and horses who participated in the reception of King George and Queen Mary at the state opening of the Ulster parliament on Wednesday, had passed over the spot safely. The train was wrecked at a steep embankment when the mine exploded, most of the carriages falling over the embankment. Physicians were immediately rushed to the scene.

DUBLIN, June 24.—A military lorry was attacked at the junction of Frederick and Dorset streets and bombs were thrown at the lorry, two landing in it. The casualties to the military was not reported, but five civilians were wounded in the heavy rifle fire which followed the attack.

COMPARISON BETWEEN
FRENCHMAN AND CHAMP

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, June 24.—Georges Carpentier, challenger of Jack Dempsey, will be smaller in several respects than any boxer who has fought for the title in recent years. Tommy Burns, from whom Jack Johnson wrested the crown, was shorter but heavier and more compactly built. Bob Fitzsimmons, in the day he lost the championship to Jim Jeffries at Coney Island, weighed 172 pounds, almost exactly what Carpentier will weigh when he climbs into the ring.

Dempsey will be larger than Carpentier in all save two important measurements. Carpentier's advantages will be in his wonderfully developed lower limbs and his neck. The Frenchman's calf measurement is 15 1/4 inches as compared with Dempsey's 15 1/4. Carpentier's neck measures 16 3/4 inches with Dempsey's one-quarter inch smaller.

Dempsey will outweigh Carpentier by about 20 pounds. He will stand 1 1/2 inches taller. He will outreach his rival by one inch, 7 1/2 inches to 7 3/4. In wrist and ankle development they are nearly equal, only a frac-

DE VALERA ARRESTED
RELEASED

(By Associated Press)
DUBLIN, Ireland, June 24.—Eamon De Valera, the Irish republican leader, was arrested Wednesday night near here, but later was released. There had been earlier denials from Sinn Fein authorities that he had been apprehended. It appears certain that he was arrested either in error or through over-zeal on the part of the officials concerned.

The arrest, it is understood, took place at Blackrock, County Dublin. The prisoner was detained for a night, and upon his identity being learned, he was released yesterday afternoon. As a matter of fact, it is declared here that there was no intention on the part of the authorities in Ireland to arrest De Valera.

tion of an inch giving Dempsey the advantage in each case. Dempsey's biceps measure 16 1/4 inches as compared with Carpentier's 14 1/4. Carpentier's back muscles, however, are a magnificent part of his development, and from these he will draw most of his hitting power.

In several respects, Jess Willard, the Kansas giant, whom Dempsey knocked out in three rounds, was the largest champion. In several other respects, the more compact Jim Jeffries outstripped Willard easily. Willard, for his size, was not developed as highly, in a physical way, as several others who have held the title.

Willard, at fighting weight, scaled 240 pounds and towered 6 feet 6 inches in the air. His reach of 83 1/2 inches was far greater than that of other title-holders. His chest measurement of 39 inches, normal, was seven inches less than that of "Jeff" Jeffries' wrist, neck, biceps and ankle development was greater than that of Willard and Willard's calf measurements were only a fraction of an inch larger than Jeffries'.

TREASURE HILL GROUP DESTINED TO UPHOLD ITS NAME IN SILVER
MINING HISTORY OF THIS STATE

By William McClure

If there is anything in a name, Treasure Hill should be an inspiration and a lure. There have been many misnomers in history, but in my humble opinion this is not the case with Treasure Hill, for its mines and bounds are measured with a silver tape.

Two weeks ago I climbed to the westerly rim of a grotesque depression, columned and castellated, gashed and gnarled, bayoneted and cannibalized by the archaic barons and artifice invaders.

It was a war of the elements and the results were elemental. The rim upon which I climbed and from which I viewed the stone-cast image of the Titanic struggle, was an ancient basalt, rock changed to iron by the alchemy of heat and age.

It was 4900 feet or more across the chasm and there was another and a similar rim fused and fixed into an impenetrable barrier of ferocious armor.

And it is well that the rims held true and firm for between them lay a canyon deep the gigantic fault, between whose sheer walls there arose in suffocating clouds the fumes from the underworld.

Dawned the tertiary period and with it upward flowed the flows of andesite and rhyolite, filling and sealing the gaping chasm.

Between these porphyries the lines hand themselves diagonally from wall to wall. As this process of detrition took place, other elements followed suit, the silicas imploring themselves upon the lines, depositing their precious burden of mineral. Thus came the ledges in the flows that filled the fault scarp, now appropriately appellationed Uncle Sam, for it is the biggest thing of its kind in the world.

Then came Silverton into being, although it was millions of years after the earth trembled and was cleft, even thousands of centuries following the tertiary flows and the subsequent detrition and deposition. It was only Silverton after it was discovered by Joseph Tognoni, the patient treasure seeker, and right here upon the scene appears the woman in the case.

She is Myrtle Tognoni, the good wife of Joe. She it is who shared his desert vigils for nearly half a century.

Was it not only just and right that Joe should pick from his discovery what he deemed to be the best six claims and record them in his wife's name? There is no dissenting voice.

And, by the same token, was it not almost an inspiration on the part of Mrs. Tognoni to name her mineral estate Treasure Hill? The eyes have it.

Although detailed two weeks ago to inspect the entire district I must plead guilty to devoting nearly the entire allotted time to Treasure Hill, for it is worthy that name, even superlatively qualified.

Each cut and shaft and tunnel on each of the many ledges that diagonally span the fault show the ore, and much of it shipping grade at that.

Many men came and sampled. Others in sums to appeal were made, but the woman in the case steadfastly refused to part with her hill of treasure. She had greater dreams for the children and for the grandchildren. The group was unpurchasable.

Then came Harry Stimler with an offer. It was not the certified check that turned the balance, but her confidence in the mine-maker, whom she had known from his youth, following in the press his mine-making career.

She placed the property in his hands and now a hoist is rumbling and spluttering in the silence of the hills and the shaft is going down, down, down to tap the treasure.

There are one and a half million shares in the capitalization of Treasure Hill Nevada Mining company and one-half is in treasury. Already 231,000 shares have been purchased at the initial offering of 15 cents and $46,350 is available for development work.

Standing sponsors with the H. C. Stimler & Co. for the company are such heavyweights as A. E. King & Co. of the New York Consolidated Stock Exchange; David Pfeiffer & Co. and John P. Joyce of the New York Curb, and O. J. Brand, of the New York Stock Exchange.

Thus comes the fruition of 40 years wandering in the wilderness by a courageous woman and a lion-hearted man and, it seems assured, through their travail will come the birth of fortunes.

REOPENING
ON FRUITS

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—Reopening of the case involving freight rates on citrus fruits from California, which were complained of by the California Citrus league as being too high, was ordered by the interstate commerce commission, who set the date later. The league's petition asserted that conditions of handling and transporting citrus fruits had changed materially since the general rate increases were ordered by the commission last August. The increases added a burden amounting to 7 per cent of the value of the citrus raisers' investments above former transportation costs.

PENALTY FORMURDER

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, June 24.—Grover C. Redding and Oscar McGavick, negroes, were hanged here early today for the killing of Robert Rose, a sailor, during the "Abysmal" riot of last June. Both appeared calm.

Sheriff Peters retained possession of the bodies of Redding and McGavick for over an hour. He gave as his reason that reports reached him recently that an attempt had been made to restore life to the body of a man hanged two months ago in the county jail after it had left the custody of the county authorities.

PUBLICLY REBUKES
ADMIRAL

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—Rear Admiral Sims was publicly reprimanded by Secretary Denby today for his stinging speech of June 8, in which he discussed Irish sympathizers in America.

The department expresses the fact that it is necessary to rebuke a flag officer, said the reprimand, "but you have made such action unavoidable. The department expresses its strong and unqualified disapproval of your conduct in having again delivered a highly improper speech in a foreign country and you are hereby publicly reprimanded."

Soon after the reprimand was made, public Admiral Sims visited President Harding at the White House. The purpose of the visit was not announced.

RUSHING WORK ON WHITE CAPS
AT MANHATTAN

Advised received from Manhattan are to the effect that the project being extended from the 800-foot level on the White Caps mine has encountered the formation and that the showing is almost identical with that found in the Bonanza level just previous to the encountering of the big ore vein. Exploration of the ground will now be pushed with all possible speed and it is quite evident that the ore shown will be found to be persistent to the lower workings, thus opening for development an extensive scale a vast area of virgin territory.

Manhattan are being pulled over the turn of events and are making ready for a scaling of prosperity. It is stated upon very good authority that the big mill will shortly be brought into commission, which means that the White Caps property will be the scene of great activity in the near future. Development is going forward on the 500-foot level with a view to opening up resources to insure the steady operation of the milling plant.

Deflation will be complete when efficiency experts are forced to go to work for a living.
